

Ask us about The New York Times Replica Edition, available exclusively to U.S. Public Libraries with a New York Times digital News site license

U.S. Public Libraries that have a New York Times digital News site license, provided directly by The New York Times, are now eligible to receive The New York Times Replica Edition via PressReader at no additional cost.

Note: This feature is only available to libraries that have a New York Times digital News site license for their library community and a subscription to PressReader. New York Times print subscribers or subscribers through Proquest are not eligible.

This benefit is managed directly by PressReader.
